Introduction

All California public school students must satisfy the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) requirement, as well as all other state and local requirements, in order to receive their high school diploma. The CAHSEE requirement can be satisfied by passing the exam or, for students with disabilities, receiving a local waiver pursuant to Education Code Section 60851(c), or receiving an exemption pursuant to Education Code Section 60852.3.

School District Legal Requirements for Parent and Guardian Notification

At the beginning of the first semester or quarter of the regular school term, the governing board of each local education agency (LEA) is required to notify the parent or guardian of a student regarding rights and responsibilities of the parent or guardian. (See Education Code Section 48980 for more information.) Beginning in grade nine and each year thereafter, students and their parents and guardians must receive notification regarding the CAHSEE requirement through this annual notification process. (See Education Code Section 48980[e].) The notification must include, at a minimum, the dates on which the LEA will offer the exam, the requirements for passing the exam, and the consequences of not passing the exam. It must also inform parents and guardians that passing the exam is a condition of graduation. If a student transfers to another LEA, notification must be given at the time of transfer.

2006–07 CAHSEE Testing Dates and Guidelines

The following table contains the dates on which the CAHSEE may be offered by LEAs during the 2006–07 school year, as set by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. School districts should select their test dates and insert them into the tables and sample materials that appear in this assistance packet. Microsoft Word versions of the sample materials are available on the CDE Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/resources.asp> for school districts to customize.

* Administration is contingent upon funding.

All students must test for the first time in grade ten to meet state education and federal accountability requirements. The tenth grade census administration must be offered in either February or March 2007. School districts may provide grade ten students who were absent during the census administration with one make-up opportunity in either March or May 2007.

The CAHSEE may be administered to grade eleven students up to two times per school year for the part(s) of the exam not previously passed. These testing opportunities must not be successive administrations (e.g., October and November).

The CAHSEE may be administered to grade twelve and adult students up to three times per school year for the part(s) of the exam not previously passed. Although grade twelve and adult students may test in successive administrations, it is recommended that school districts allow enough time between administrations to receive score reports and provide supplemental instruction.

For further guidance on selecting test dates for the 2006–07 school year, please refer to the document Guidelines for Scheduling CAHSEE Administrations for the 2006–07 School Year located on the CDE Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/admin.asp>.

Using This Assistance Packet

Notifying parents and guardians of the requirement that their students must pass the CAHSEE is an important part of ensuring student success on this exam. The more information a school district provides to parents and guardians, the greater the opportunity parents and guardians will have to participate in preparing their students for success on the exam. In addition, increased communication may help to better connect parents and guardians to the school district.

School districts are encouraged to use a variety of methods throughout the school year to inform parents and guardians of the CAHSEE requirement. To help with the notification process, this assistance packet includes the following resources:

- CAHSEE Questions and Answers
- CAHSEE parent/guardian brochure
- Sample notification flyer
- Sample reminder letter
- Sample school/home newsletter inserts (Spotlight on CAHSEE)

These materials may be used as models for school districts to inform parents and guardians about the CAHSEE. After school districts select their CAHSEE administration dates (see previous section), the dates can be inserted into the sample documents along with local contact information. Microsoft Word versions of the sample documents in this packet are available on the CDE Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/resources.asp> for school districts to customize.

■ Required Parent and Guardian Notification

To assist school districts in the annual CAHSEE notification process that is required beginning in grade nine, a sample notification flyer is included in this assistance packet. Once test dates are inserted into this flyer, it meets the minimum legal requirements for CAHSEE notification.

School districts may include more background information about the CAHSEE with this flyer, including the following: Spotlight on CAHSEE: What is the CAHSEE?, the CAHSEE parent/guardian brochure, and the CAHSEE Questions and Answers.

■ Additional Opportunities to Inform Parents and Guardians

- Back-to-School Night

At Back-to-School Night, schools are encouraged to distribute the CAHSEE parent/guardian brochure and other resources in this assistance packet to parents and guardians of students in grades nine through twelve. Also, school personnel might find it valuable to discuss the CAHSEE study guides and offer suggestions on how parents and guardians can use them with their students.

- Newsletter Inserts and Web Sites

The Spotlight on CAHSEE documents in this assistance packet may be inserted in school/home newsletters throughout the year to continue informing parents and guardians about the CAHSEE program. These inserts are available on the CDE Web site in Microsoft Word format for schools and school districts to customize.

- School Letter Reminding Parents and Guardians When Testing Will Begin

Schools may send a letter to parents and guardians four to six weeks before testing begins as a reminder that their students will soon be taking the CAHSEE. This assistance packet includes a sample letter that can be used for this purpose. (See sample letter, page 14.) This letter is available on the CDE Web site in Microsoft Word format for schools and school districts to customize.

■ Adult Student Notification

Adult students are required to pass the CAHSEE to receive a public high school diploma if they are enrolled in an adult school that is operated by a public school district. School districts should notify adult students of the CAHSEE requirement at the time they enroll in a high school diploma program. Notification should include, at a minimum, the dates on which the LEA will offer the exam, the requirements for passing the exam, and the consequences of not passing the exam. It should also inform them that passing the exam is a condition of graduation.

California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE)

Questions and Answers

What is the CAHSEE?

State law, enacted in 1999, authorized the development of the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE), which students in California public schools would have to pass to earn a high school diploma. All California public school students must satisfy the CAHSEE requirement, as well as all other state and local requirements, in order to receive a high school diploma. The CAHSEE requirement can be satisfied by passing the exam or, for students with disabilities, receiving a local waiver pursuant to Education Code Section 60851(c), or receiving an exemption pursuant to Education Code Section 60852.3.

The purpose of the CAHSEE is to improve student achievement in high school and to help ensure that students who graduate from high school can demonstrate grade-level competency in reading, writing, and mathematics.

What subjects does the CAHSEE cover?

The CAHSEE is divided into two parts: English-language arts and mathematics. Test questions address California content standards that a High School Exit Examination Standards Panel, appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, determined students should know to graduate from high school.

English-Language Arts

One part of the CAHSEE addresses state English-language arts (ELA) content standards through grade ten. The ELA part of the exam, which consists of multiple-choice questions and a writing task, has a reading section and a writing section. The reading section covers vocabulary, informational reading, and literary reading. This section includes 50 percent literary texts and 50 percent informational texts. The writing section covers writing strategies, applications, and conventions. In addition to the multiple-choice questions, students are asked to complete one writing task on a specific topic or in response to a literary or informational passage.

Mathematics

The other part of the CAHSEE addresses state mathematics content standards. It includes statistics, data analysis and probability, number sense, measurement and geometry, algebra and functions, mathematical reasoning, and Algebra I. Students must demonstrate computational skills and a foundation in arithmetic, including working with decimals, fractions, and percentages. The math part of the exam is composed entirely of multiple-choice questions.

The CAHSEE blueprints provide more information on the content of the exam. The CAHSEE blueprints are available on the California Department of Education (CDE) Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/admin.asp>.

Are there any exemptions or waivers of the requirement to pass the CAHSEE?

For certain students with disabilities, an exemption or waiver of the CAHSEE requirement may be available.

Education Code Section 60852.3 provides an exemption of the requirement to pass the CAHSEE for students with disabilities scheduled to receive a 2006 diploma on or before December 31, 2006 if the following conditions are met:

1. The student has an individualized education program (IEP) or Section 504 Plan.
2. According to the IEP or Section 504 Plan, which is dated on or before July 1, 2005, the student is scheduled to receive a high school diploma with an anticipated graduation from high school in 2006.
3. The local educational agency certifies that the student has satisfied or will satisfy all

- other state and local requirements for the receipt of a high school diploma in 2006.
4. The student has attempted to pass the CAHSEE at least twice after grade ten, including at least once during grade twelve, with the accommodations or modifications, if any, specified in his or her IEP or Section 504 Plan.
 5. Either (A) the student has received remedial or supplemental instruction focused on the CAHSEE either through the school of the student, private tutoring, or other means, or (B) the school district or state special school failed to provide the student with the opportunity to receive that remedial or supplemental instruction.
 6. If the student received remedial or supplemental instruction, the student has taken the CAHSEE at least once following the receipt of that remedial or supplemental instruction.
 7. The student, or the parent or legal guardian of the student if the student is a minor, has acknowledged in writing that the student is entitled to receive free appropriate public education up to and including the academic year during which the student reaches age 22, or until the student receives a high school diploma, whichever event occurs first.

Education Code Section 60851(c) permits local school boards to grant a waiver of the CAHSEE requirement to students with disabilities who take the CAHSEE using modifications and receive the equivalent of a passing score.

At the request of the student's parent or guardian, a school principal must submit to the local school governing board a request for a waiver of the requirement to pass the part(s) of the CAHSEE on which a modification was used and the equivalent of a passing score was earned. For the local board to waive the CAHSEE requirement, the principal must certify that the student has met the following conditions:

1. An IEP or Section 504 Plan is in place that requires the accommodations or modifications to be provided to the student when taking the CAHSEE.
2. The student has either satisfactorily completed or is in progress towards completing high school level curriculum sufficient to have attained the skills and knowledge otherwise needed to pass the CAHSEE.
3. The student has an individual score report showing that the student has received the equivalent of a passing score on the CAHSEE while using a modification.

What is done to assist students with disabilities when taking the CAHSEE?

Students with disabilities must be allowed to take the CAHSEE with any accommodations and/or modifications specified in their IEP or Section 504 Plan for use on the CAHSEE, standardized testing, or for use during classroom instruction and assessment. An accommodation is a change in the testing environment or process that does not alter what the CAHSEE measures or affect the comparability of scores, whereas a modification is a change that fundamentally alters what the CAHSEE measures or affects the comparability of scores.

Students who use an accommodation and earn a score of 350 or higher have passed that part of the CAHSEE. Students who use a modification and earn the equivalent of a passing score on one or both parts of the CAHSEE have not passed but may be eligible for a waiver of the CAHSEE requirement (as described above).

What is done to assist English learners when taking the CAHSEE?

English learners must be permitted to take the CAHSEE with certain test variations if used regularly in the classroom. For example, if regularly used in the classroom, English learners must be permitted to hear the test directions in their primary language or use a translation glossary.

Students who are English learners are required to take the CAHSEE in grade ten with all other grade ten students. During their first 24 months in a California school, English learners are to receive six months of instruction in reading, writing, and comprehension in English (Education Code Section 60852). During this time, they are still required to take the CAHSEE.

When do parents and guardians receive their student's CAHSEE results?

About eight weeks after each administration of the exam, school districts receive two copies of the CAHSEE Student and Parent Report for each student who took the examination. When school districts receive these reports, they are to immediately distribute one copy to parents and guardians and place the other copy in the student's permanent record.

In order to pass the CAHSEE, a scale score of 350 or higher is required on each part. Students do not need to pass both parts of the CAHSEE during the same administration in order to satisfy the CAHSEE requirement. Students who do not pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE in grade ten will have additional opportunities to take the CAHSEE in grade eleven and yet again in grade twelve, if needed.

Do parents and guardians need to keep a copy of their student's results?

Yes. It is important that parents and guardians keep a copy of the student report for their own records. The CDE does not keep a copy of individual student reports. Individual student scores are to be maintained by the student's school district. The school district must ensure the records are maintained confidentially. (See Education Code Section 49073 and Title 20 United States Code Section 1232[g].)

How many opportunities do students have to pass the CAHSEE?

All students are required to take the CAHSEE for the first time in grade ten. Students who do not pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE in grade ten have up to two opportunities in grade eleven and up to three opportunities in grade twelve to retake the part(s) of the exam not yet passed. The CAHSEE testing schedule through the 2007–08 school year is posted on the Internet at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/admin.asp>. School districts select their testing dates from this schedule.

What happens if students do not pass the CAHSEE?

School districts are required to provide additional instruction to assist students who do not pass the exam. Parents and guardians are encouraged to contact their student's school for information on the programs offered.

Is the CAHSEE used for school and school district accountability purposes?

Yes. The state and federal governments use the CAHSEE as a measure of school and school district accountability. The state accountability program is the Public Schools Accountability Act, and the federal accountability program is the No Child Left Behind Act. The use of CAHSEE results for these accountability programs in no way affects how the CAHSEE is used for individual student accountability.

How can parents and guardians get their questions answered about the CAHSEE?

Additional CAHSEE information is posted on the CDE Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs>. If parents and guardians have additional questions, they should direct their questions to their student's teachers or contact the school principal or counselor.

Parents and guardians whose student needs extra instruction to pass the CAHSEE should make sure he or she is enrolled in additional learning opportunities provided by the school.

The California Department of Education has posted released CAHSEE test questions and CAHSEE study guides on its Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/resources.asp>.

What is done to assist students with disabilities when taking the CAHSEE?

Students with disabilities must be allowed to take the CAHSEE with any accommodations and/or modifications specified in their IEP or Section 504 Plan for use on the CAHSEE, standardized testing, or for use during classroom instruction and assessment. An accommodation is a change in the testing environment or process that does not alter what the CAHSEE measures or affect the comparability of scores, whereas a modification is a change that fundamentally alters what the CAHSEE measures or affects the comparability of scores.

Students who use an accommodation and earn a score of 350 or higher have passed that part of the CAHSEE. Students who use a modification and earn the equivalent of a passing score on one or both parts of the CAHSEE have not passed but may be eligible for a waiver of the CAHSEE requirement (as described above).

What is done to assist English learners when taking the CAHSEE?

English learners must be permitted to take the CAHSEE with certain test variations if used regularly in the classroom. For example, if regularly used in the classroom, students must be permitted to hear the test directions in their primary language or use a translation glossary.

All California public school students must satisfy the CAHSEE requirement, as well as all other state and local requirements, in order to receive a high school diploma. The CAHSEE requirement can be satisfied by passing the exam or, for students with disabilities, receiving a local waiver pursuant to Education Code Section 60851(c), or receiving an exemption pursuant to Education Code Section 60852.3.

The purpose of the CAHSEE is to improve student achievement in high school and help ensure that students who graduate from high school can demonstrate grade-level competency in reading, writing, and mathematics.

What subjects does the CAHSEE cover?

The CAHSEE is divided into two parts: English-language arts and mathematics. One part of the CAHSEE addresses state English-language arts content standards through grade ten, including reading and writing.

The reading section covers:

- Vocabulary
- Informational reading
- Literary reading

The writing section covers:

- Writing strategies
- Writing applications
- Writing conventions

The other part of the CAHSEE addresses state mathematics content standards in grades six and seven and Algebra I, including the following:

- Statistics, data analysis, and probability
- Number sense
- Measurement and geometry
- Algebra and functions
- Mathematical reasoning
- Algebra I

Students must demonstrate computational skills and a foundation in arithmetic, including working with decimals, fractions, and percentages.

What kinds of questions are on the CAHSEE?

The English-language arts part of the CAHSEE consists of multiple-choice questions and a writing task. The mathematics part consists of all multiple-choice questions. Exam questions are given only in English.

When is the CAHSEE administered?

The CAHSEE is administered at the school site during regular school hours on the dates chosen by your school district. The English-language arts part is administered on the first day of testing and the mathematics part on the second day of testing. All students must take the CAHSEE for the first time in grade ten.

A scale score of 350 or higher is required on each part of the CAHSEE to pass. Students do not need to pass both parts of the CAHSEE during the same administration in order to satisfy the CAHSEE requirement. Students who do not pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE in grade ten will have additional opportunities in grade eleven and yet again in grade twelve, if needed.

When do parents and guardians receive their student's results?

About eight weeks after each CAHSEE administration, school districts will receive two copies of the CAHSEE Student and Parent Report for each student who took the exam. The school district will distribute one copy to the student's parents or guardians and place the other copy in the student's permanent record.

Does passing the CAHSEE guarantee that a student will receive a high school diploma?

No. Passing the CAHSEE is just one requirement for graduating from high school. Students also must meet all other state and local requirements to receive a diploma.

How can parents and guardians help their students prepare for the CAHSEE?

The best academic preparation for the CAHSEE is good instruction. Parents and guardians should talk with their student's teacher or principal to learn more about the state academic content standards in English-language arts and mathematics being taught at their student's school.

Notice to Parents and Guardians

All California public school students are required by state law to satisfy the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) requirement, as well as all other state and local requirements, in order to receive a high school diploma. The CAHSEE requirement can be satisfied by passing the exam or, for students with disabilities, receiving a local waiver pursuant to Education Code Section 60851(c), or receiving an exemption pursuant to Education Code Section 60852.3. All students, including English learners and students with disabilities, must take the CAHSEE for the first time in grade ten. Students who do not pass the exam in tenth grade will have additional opportunities in grades eleven and twelve to retake the part(s) not passed.

What the CAHSEE Covers

The exam is divided into two parts: (1) English-language arts (reading and writing) and (2) mathematics. All questions are aligned to California content standards adopted by the State Board of Education. Content standards describe what students should know and be able to do at each grade level from kindergarten through grade twelve. Your school district can provide you with information on the content standards assessed by the CAHSEE, or you can download the CAHSEE test blueprints located on the Internet at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/admin.asp>.

Requirements for Passing the CAHSEE

Students must earn a score of 350 or higher on each part of the CAHSEE (English-language arts and mathematics) to pass the exam. Students do not need to pass both parts of the exam during the same administration in order to satisfy the CAHSEE requirement.

Accommodations and Modifications for Students with Disabilities

Students must be allowed to take the CAHSEE with any accommodations and modifications that are specified in their individualized education program (IEP) or Section 504 Plan for use on the CAHSEE, standardized testing, or for use during classroom instruction and assessment. Students who use an accommodation and earn a score of 350 or higher have passed that part of the CAHSEE. Students who use a modification and earn the equivalent of a passing score on one or both parts of the CAHSEE have not passed but may be eligible for a waiver of the CAHSEE requirement. Parents or guardians must ask the school principal to submit a waiver on behalf of their student. More information on accommodations, modifications, and the waiver process can be found on the CDE Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/accmod.asp>.

Test Variations for English Learners

English learners must be permitted to take the CAHSEE with certain test variations if used regularly in the classroom. For example, if regularly used in the classroom, English learners must be permitted to hear the test directions in their primary language or use a translation glossary.

This letter can be sent to parents and guardians four to six weeks before testing begins as a reminder that their student will be taking the CAHSEE.

(Insert date)

Dear Parent/Guardian:

This letter is being sent to remind you that your student, along with other students in public high schools throughout the state, will participate in the upcoming administration of the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE). Our school will administer the exam to your student on (insert test date here) at the school site during regular school hours. It is important that your student be present on test days.

The primary purpose of the CAHSEE, which is mandated by state law, is to ensure that students who graduate from high school can demonstrate grade-level competency in the state's academic content standards for reading, writing, and mathematics. Your student must satisfy the CAHSEE requirement, as well as meet all other state and local requirements, to earn a high school diploma.

The CAHSEE is divided into two parts: (1) English-language arts, which includes reading and writing and (2) mathematics. All questions on the exam are aligned to California content standards adopted by the State Board of Education. Content standards describe what students should know and be able to do at each grade level from kindergarten through grade twelve.

Our school district will receive individual student results about eight weeks after the exam is given. Your student's results will be sent to your home as soon as they are available. Students who do not pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE during this administration will have additional opportunities to retake the part(s) not yet passed.

All grade ten students must take the CAHSEE, including English learners and students with disabilities. English learners must be permitted to take the CAHSEE with certain test variations if used regularly in the classroom. Students with disabilities must be permitted to take the exam with any accommodations and/or modifications specified in their individualized education program (IEP) or Section 504 Plan for use on the CAHSEE, standardized testing, or during classroom instruction and assessment. Students who use a modification and have earned the equivalent of a passing score may be eligible for a diploma if a waiver of the requirement to pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE is granted. At the request of a parent or guardian, the local school board may waive the requirement to pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE if the student has met the requirements listed in California Education Code Section 60851(c). In addition, some students with disabilities may be eligible for an exemption pursuant to Education Code Section 60852.3.

For further information about the CAHSEE and your student's participation, contact our school office during regular school hours at (insert phone number here). CAHSEE information also is available on the California Department of Education's Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs>.

Students must earn a score of 350 or higher on each part of the CAHSEE (English-language arts and mathematics) in order to pass the exam. This translates to approximately 60 percent correct in English-language arts and 55 percent correct in mathematics. Students who do not pass the exam in grade ten will have additional opportunities in grades eleven and twelve to retake the part(s) not passed.

What Kinds of Questions are on the CAHSEE?

The California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) is a graduation requirement for all public school students. The exam is divided into two parts: English-language arts and mathematics.

English-Language Arts

The English-language arts part of the CAHSEE tests California content standards through grade ten. The reading section includes vocabulary, decoding, comprehension, and analysis of informational and literary texts. This section includes 50 percent literary texts and 50 percent informational texts. The writing section covers writing strategies, applications, and the conventions for standard English (e.g., grammar, spelling, and punctuation). The CAHSEE English-language arts portion includes 72 multiple-choice questions and one writing task (essay).

The reading and decoding section covers:

- Word analysis, fluency, and systematic vocabulary development
- Reading comprehension
- Literary response and analysis

The writing section covers:

- Writing strategies
- Writing applications
- Written and oral English language conventions

Mathematics

The Mathematics part of the CAHSEE tests California content standards in grades six and seven and Algebra I. The exam includes statistics, data analysis and probability, number sense, measurement and geometry, mathematical reasoning, and algebra. Students must demonstrate computational skills and a foundation in arithmetic, including working with decimals, fractions, and percentages.

The CAHSEE mathematics portion includes 80 multiple-choice questions that cover the following:

- Statistics, data analysis, and probability
- Number sense
- Measurement and geometry
- Algebra and functions
- Mathematical reasoning
- Algebra I

More information about the number and types of questions covered on the CAHSEE can be found by downloading the CAHSEE Blueprints and Released Test Questions from the California Department of Education Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/>.

What If My Student Does Not Pass the CAHSEE?

The California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) is a graduation requirement for all public school students. The exam is administered to all students for the first time in grade ten in order to allow students adequate time for preparation and number of opportunities to pass the exam before they graduate.

Additional Opportunities

Students who do not pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE in grade ten will have additional opportunities to take the part(s) they have not previously passed. Once a student has passed one part of the CAHSEE, he or she will not have to retake that part. Grade eleven and twelve students will have the following opportunities to take the CAHSEE during the 2006–07 school year:

If your student did not pass one or both parts of the CAHSEE, the school will automatically register your student to take the next administration of the CAHSEE until he or she has passed both parts. It is important that your student attends school on test days.

Supplemental Instruction

Our school district is committed to helping your student satisfy the CAHSEE requirement. Our English-language arts and mathematics classes are aligned with state content standards. In addition to regular classroom instruction, our school district also offers the following supplemental instruction to help students meet the CAHSEE requirement:

(Add or remove items as they apply to your school or school district.)

- Elective Replacement
Students can choose to take an English or mathematics course to prepare for the CAHSEE during regular school hours in place of one of their elective courses.
- After-School Tutoring
After-school tutoring is offered for students who would like one-on-one or small group instruction in English or mathematics to prepare for the CAHSEE.
- Summer School
Our school district offers English and mathematics summer school classes for students who want additional instruction in these areas.

Parents and guardians are encouraged to meet with their student's teacher or school counselor to determine what supplemental instruction is best for their student. For more information about supplemental instruction opportunities, contact our school office at (insert phone number).

What is Done to Help Students Who Need Assistance When Taking the CAHSEE?

All California public school students must satisfy the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) requirement, as well as all other state and local requirements, in order to receive their high school diploma. The CAHSEE requirement can be satisfied by passing the exam or, for students with disabilities, receiving a local waiver pursuant to Education Code Section 60851(c), or receiving an exemption pursuant to Education Code Section 60852.3.

The Title 5 Regulations for the CAHSEE describe test variations for the following types of students taking the CAHSEE: all students, eligible students, English learners, and students with disabilities. The regulations are posted on the California Department of Education (CDE) Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/admin.asp>.

Test Variations for All Students

Extra time within the testing day, marking in the test booklet (e.g., use for scratch paper), and simplifying or clarifying directions are test variations for the CAHSEE that may be provided to all students.

Test Variations for Eligible Students

Examples of test variations only available to students who regularly use them in the classroom include special or adaptive furniture, special lighting or acoustics, or being tested individually in a separate room.

Test Variations for English Learners

English learners must be permitted to take the CAHSEE with certain test variations if used regularly in the classroom. For example, if regularly used in the classroom, English learners must be permitted to hear the test directions in their primary language or use a translation glossary.

Students who are English learners are required to take the CAHSEE in grade ten with all other grade ten students. During their first 24 months in a California school, English learners are to receive six months of instruction in reading, writing, and comprehension in English (Education Code Section 60852). During this time, they are still required to take the CAHSEE.

Accommodations for Students With Disabilities

An accommodation is a change in the testing environment or process that does not alter what the CAHSEE measures or affect the comparability of scores. Examples of accommodations for the CAHSEE include using a Braille transcription, having the mathematics part of the test read to the student or orally presented on a CD, or having extra time beyond the school day to complete the exam.

Any student whose individualized education program (IEP) or Section 504 Plan specifies the need for accommodations on the CAHSEE, standardized testing, or during classroom instruction and assessment must be allowed to use them when taking the CAHSEE.

Students who use an accommodation and earn a passing score of 350 or higher have passed that part of the exam.

Modifications for Students With Disabilities

A modification is a change in the testing environment that fundamentally alters what the CAHSEE measures or affects the comparability of scores. Examples of modifications for the CAHSEE include using a calculator on the math part of the exam, having the English-language arts part of the exam read to the student or orally presented on a CD, or using Manually Coded English or American Sign Language to present the test questions to the student.

Any student whose individualized education program (IEP) or Section 504 Plan specifies the need for modifications on the CAHSEE, standardized testing, or during classroom instruction and assessment must be allowed to use them when taking the CAHSEE.

Students who use a modification and earn the equivalent of a passing score on one or both parts of the CAHSEE have not passed but may be eligible for a waiver of the CAHSEE requirement by the local school board. A student's parent or guardian must ask the school principal to submit a waiver on behalf of their student.

More information on test variations, accommodations, modifications, and the waiver process can be found on the CDE Web site at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/hs/accomod.asp> or by contacting your local high school or school district.
